

AMERICAN INSTITUTE,
 ROOMS, NOS. 111, 113 & 115 WEST 38TH STREET,
 NEAR BROADWAY.

New York, Nov. 23, 1892.

O. C. Bosbyshell,

Supt of Mint,

Dear Sir:

I am engaged in a little Numismatic work and am, of course, anxious to be correct. To this end may I be allowed to trouble ^{you} to look at my data for approval? The intrinsic, or commercial value of a Dollar, in Gold, 89.54.

" " Silver, 85.

" " "(² Halves) 89.

" " 5 Cent Nickels, 14.

" " 3 " " , 16.

" " 1 " , Copper, 7.

Quarters & Dimes I have not. Please, let have their value.

I have the pleasure to remain,

Yours, respectfully,
 John T. Ashley.

190

New York

Nov. 23, 1892

Jno. T. Ashley

Asks value of certain Coins.

U. S. Treasury Department.

The intrinsic value of the Gold - $.- $ 1.00

The Silver dollar
Silver being worth
85c per fine. g.
or 76.5 per Std. g. } ,65.7c

Two half dollars 61.4
The quarter and dime in proportion

Nickel	5c	about	,26c
"	3c	"	,10c
Bronze	1c	"	,08c

NARA RG104, Entry 1, Box 178

[Abstract:] Asks value of certain coins.

American Institute,
New York,
November 23, 1892

O.C. Bosbyshell,
Supt. of Mint,

Dear Sir:

I am engaged in a little Numismatic work and am, of course, anxious to be correct. To this end may I be allowed to trouble you to look at my data for approval? The intrinsic, or commercial value of a

Dollar in Gold,	89.54 c
“ “ Silver,	85.
“ “ 2 (Halves)	89.
“ “ 5 Cent Nickels ,	17.
“ “ 3 “ “,	16.
“ “ 1 “, copper,	7.

Quarters & Dimes I have not. Please, let have their value.

I have the pleasure to remain,
Yours respectfully,
John. T. Ashley

[Enclosed note:]

U.S. Treasury Department.

The intrinsic value of the gold - $. - $1.00

The Silver dollar. Silver being worth 85c per fine. Oz. or 76.5 per Std. oz. } .65.7 c

Two half dollars 61.4

The quarter and dime in proportion

Nickel 5 c about .26 c

“ 3 c “ .10 “

Bronze 1 c “ .08 c